HER PRISON TERM A BENEFIT, SAYS WOMAN SOCIALIST

Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, photographed since her release.

WASHINGTON — Declaring that her prison experience was distinctly worth while, Kate Richards O'Hara, socialist leader who was sent to the Missouri state prison following a draft obstruction speech which she made in Bowman, N. D., in 1917, has arrived in Washington, from where she will shortly start on a lecture tour throughout the country.

"I will have to admit that I would have been chosen to stay there a week instead of 14 months, but I still do not regret any of it. I should never have been able to perform the valuable social service that I will now be able to do if I had not had my experience there," said Mrs. O'Hare.

The main purpose of her tour, Mrs. O'Hare says, will be to stir up sentiment for amnesty for political prisoners.

SENATOR OUT OF HOSPITAL

La Follette Now Having Dental Work Done at Rochester

(By the Associated Press)

ROCHESTER, Minn. — Senator Robert M. La Follette today refused to be interviewed on anything concerning politics.

Senator La Follette has been dismissed from the Mayo hospital where he recently underwent an operation. He is now having some dental work done. He does not know when he will leave for his home at Madison, Wis.

Senator La Follette is expected back in Madison the latter part of the week or the first of next. It is not generally assumed that the senator will make no statement until after the San Francisco convention and that he will not be a candidate unless there is a call from all of the progressive parties of the country for him to enter the race.

The senator will go to his farm at Maple Bluff, on his return, where Mrs. La Follette now is. Phillip and Mary La Follette are at Rochester with the senator.

Wet and Dry Plank Threatens to Cause Fight at San Francisco

McADOO STILL DECLINES.

NEW YORK—William G. McAdoo today wired Burris A. Jenkins, Kansas City publisher, requesting that his name not be suggested for the democratic nomination. The message was sent on receipt of news that Mr. Jenkins had announced Mr. McAdoo's name would be placed in nomination at San Francisco with or without his consent.

"I urgently requested Mr. Jenkins not to present my name at the convention," Mr.. McAdoo said.

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Burris A. Jenkins, clergyman and publisher of the Kansas City Post, issued a positive statement today that the name of William G. McAdoo will be placed in nomination before the democratic national convention whether Mr. McAdoo consents or not.

Dr. Jenkins had been selected to place McAdoo's name before the convention until Mr. McAdoo stated he must decline to allow his name to be presented in nomination.

"Whether I nominate Mr. McAdoo or whether some one else does," Dr. Jenkins said today, "this much is certain—his name will be placed in nomination at San Francisco."

Dr. Jenkins said that he had been informed by Thos. B. Love, democratic national committeeman from Texas, who yesterday travelled across Kansas with the Alabama delegation to the national convention, that 18 out of the 24 members of the delegation insisted that McAdoo's name ought to be laid before the convention.

(By the Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO—While hotels began today to take on the appearance of a national political convention, but few of the democratic chieftains who will figure in the party's quadrennial gathering next week had reached the convention city.

Out of the talk of the day came an increasing rumble of wet and dry maneuvers. No definite statements were obtainable from leaders but it was clear that they looked forward to a fight over efforts to make the democratic platform advocate modification of the prohibition amendment.

Some observers said the drys would control the resolutions committee by a sufficient margon to insure defeat of any wet planks in the committee draft.

The league of nations issue did not fill a prominent place in talk among the leaders today, but possibility of a struggle over Japanese exclusion was suggested after Gov. Stephens' letter to Secretary Colby declaring the situation serious in California had been read.

Posters urging the claims of Attorney General Palmer began to appear and workers in behalf of Gov. Cox and other aspirants were beginning to arrive.

Allen Young Pleads Guilty to Driving Car While Intoxicated

Allen Young, driver of an Armour Packing Co. truck, pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated this morning before Judge Hoppmann and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff. Sentence was deferred.

After a wild drive on W. Wilson St. Monday afternoon, ending in a smashup on the terrace of the Fairchild property at W. Wilson St. and Monona Ave. Young spent the night in jail. A new sedan belonging to Mrs. Frank W. Jacobs, which was standing in the way of the gay car, got a bent fender from a glancing blow from the truck.

GAVE HORSE NO FOOD FOR 3 WEEKS; WITHOUT STABLE

W. J. SARGENT, 525 State st., was fined $10 and costs after having pleaded guilty before Judge Hoppmann to cruel treatment of his horse. He was arrested on the complaint of William Busse, county humane agent.

According to Mr. Busse, he left his horse standing at the rear of a square store for three days and nights giving it no food. He declares, however, that he gave it water. He also admitted he has no stable facilities for the horse.

Mr. Sargent was also told that he would have to provide better facilities for some chickens which he keeps on a lot on the east side of town, said Mr. Busse. The horse is now at the veterinarian's, where it will remain until in proper condition, when a stable must be provided.

TWO MADISON GIRLS MISSING

Myrtle Normington and Edna Moore Are Being Sought

Myrtle Normington, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Normington, South Madison and Edna Moore, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lem Moore, also of South Madison ran away from their homes, June 12, circus day, according to a story told by Mr. Normington to Deputy Sheriff Larson today.

Mr. Normington intends to swear out a warrant for the arrest of the two girls, who were last seen at Janesville Sunday evening at 10 o'clock in an auto, in which there were also two young men.

Myrtle has fair hair and skin. She is short and stout and wore a pink silk dress. Edna is tall and slender, has red hair and wore a blue silk dress. Both girls worked at a local candy company.

Myrtle asked permission of her parents to attend the wedding of a cousin in Tomah, her former home. She was told that she could not go till the following Tuesday and nothing more was said. On Friday night she complained of feeling ill and her father told her that she did not have to return to her work. Saturday the girls received their pay and later told their parents they were going to attend the circus. They did not return home that night but the parents thought little of it, believing they had gone to Tomah, which proved to be the case. When the girls did not return Monday, however, Mr. and Mrs. Normington became worried and Mr. Normington set out to look for them. He traced them to Beloit where they worked in a laundry and later to Janesville. Mrs. Normington is almost frantic with grief over the disappearance of her daughter.

"All I care about" said Mr. Normington "is to get my daughter back, she has never been away from home before and is a good respectable girl."

WOMEN TALK PLAINLY TO MR. HARDING

Deputation of Suffragists Tell Nominee They Expect Action

THREATEN TO BOLT

Say Republicans Are as Much Opposed to Suffrage as Democrats

WASHINGTON—Senator Harding told a deputation of suffragists today that while he could not with propriety attempt to force any state to expedite action on the woman suffrage amendment, he would recommend ratification if any state authority sought his opinion.

Under veiled threats of turning their support to a third party, 26 women suffragists from 21 states had urged Senator Harding today to exert his influence in bringing about final ratification of the woman suffrage amendment.

Mrs. Genevieve Allen of San Francisco said the delegation had "come to receive on behalf of the disfranchised women of your state and your country, your reply as to what you and your party will do to enfranchise these women."

Mrs. Donald Hooker, of Baltimore told the senator that the "Chicanery, false promises and dilatory tactics of the republicans have convinced women that they are really as opposed to our enfranchisement as the democrats."

"Unless one of these parties acts promptly" she declared, "there is nothing left for women to do but to turn to a third party in the coming elections."

Mrs. Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's party said it was the intention to make the suffrage question "the most conspicuous issue before the country."

"The suffrage plank in the republican platform means absolutely nothing if the republican party cannot carry it into effect in the Republican states of Connecticut and Vermont" she continued.

Samuel Fallows Carried Week's Supply of Food To University

Tells of Days 50 Years Ago When North Hall Was Being Built; Men Came Long Way to Attend the Commencement Exercises

MORE than half a century ago Bishop Samuel Fallows, Chicago, left his country home in Wisconsin, packed a bundle of food, and trudged to the University of Wisconsin to finish his "schooling."

Today, alumni day of commencement week at the "U," the venerable bishop came to Madison, the sole survivor of the class of '59, to take a leading part in the dedication of Bascom hall.

* * * * *

"It's not like the old days," said Bishop Fallows today. "When I was here, they were just finishing construction of the oldest building on the hill, North hall. Friends of mine, working as stone masons on the building, got $3 a day wages—a tremendous wage it was thought. You see, that was centuries ago!

"I lived in Birds' Ruins then. They call the village Marshall today. At midnight every Monday I would pack enough food to last me a week and tramp the eighteen miles to the university. No time for lagging, either. Had to be here at 8 sharp to attend morning services. The school was devout in those days. Saturday afternoon I would tramp back again and stay over the week-end."

Bishop Fallows declared that no single act of his life affected him more deeply than his services last week, when he signed, with great labor, 4,000 diplomas for the Chicago Training School for Home and Public Nursing.

"This school, he said, "has just completed its first term, three months, and it seems to me the graduation of the nurses marks a new era in the country's health crusade. Old women, young women, many without much schooling, come to this city health school for three months' intensive work, and when they leave they are equipped to battle disease in their own neighborhood and community. Chicago inaugurated this movement; all cities ought to copy it."

* * * * *

While Bishop Fallows proved the oldest alumus of Wisconsin here today, a veteran graduate of another college, attended the exercises. He beats the bishop's record by one year.

A. W. Kellogg, Madison, who was 90 years old last November, never fails to attend alumni day exercises, for he numbers among Wisconsin "old-timers" a host of friends.

Mr. Kellogg graduated in 1858 from Wesleyan college, Middleton, Conn.

Getting along in years now," he said this morning, "but there was a time in my life when I carried the entire assets of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. on my shoulders.

"Now look here," declared Bishop Fallows, one of the auditors, "those assets run into millions—a good load for a safe the size of a house."

"That's today," chuckled Mr. Kellogg, but I'm speaking of 'way back in 1859. I was secretary of the company then. The total assets of the firm was $9,333—and I carried them often in my old carpet bag!"

* * * * *

Mountains, oceans, revolutions and war did not prevent graduates of the class of 1915 from attending the reunion. They crossed the Atlantic, the Pacific, Mexican mountains and European hills. The result is that the total enrollment of '15 was 147 at noon today—which beats all previous records for any single class.

Louis Loeb came all the way from Mexico to take part in the reunion.

"Just got out of Sonora in time to escape the worst part of the revolution," he said.

"What is your opinion of the present provisional government?" he was asked.

"That's on the knees of the gods," said Mr. Loeb. No Mexican government is worth anything until it works—and few of them do. I really can't saw whether the present government will survive or not."

Joseph F. Machotka, '15, traveled from Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, to attend the reunion. He's going all the way back again, too, after a visit with his folks at Muscoda, Wis.

"You keep your eyes on Czecho-Slovakia," was his advice. "The very best part of the constitutions of three countries went into the Czech constitution—and it's a wonder! The country has a brilliant future."

Dr. Butler's telegram follows:

SUBURB IS WRECKED BY FOUR QUAKES

Inglewood District Suffers Severe Damage; 21 Buildings Down

ONE DEATH IS CAUSED

Woman Falls Dead Following Tremor; Many Injured By Bricks

(By the Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES — Los Angeles railway officials announced that a slight earthquake at 10:30 a. m. put its power plant at Huntington Lake, 20 miles east of Fresno, out of commission for 25 minutes. Los Angeles traffic was tied up for that period.

LOS ANGELES — A survey today of the damage done by an earthquake which occurred last night indicated that Inglewood, ten miles southwest, suffered much more severely than was at first reported.

Twenty one business buildings in the town were destroyed, the town was deprived of light and gas and scores of dwellings were damaged.

Many plate glass windows in Los Angeles were shattered by the shock, several buildings were otherwise injured and persons were struck by bricks shaken from chimneys. San Pedro, Long Beach, Santa Monica and Venice also reported damage.

The death of Mrs. William Shippy, Los Angeles, at Venice, a beach resort, was attributed to the earthquake. She jumped from an automobile following the tremor and fell dead from heart disease.

The shock which caused the damage was followed by two slighter tremors, a few minutes apart, and at 10:45 o'clock fourth tremor was felt. No damage resulted from these.

The front walls of the Inglewood hotel, a theater, an undertaking establishment, a real estate office, three grocery stores, two meat markets, two garages and other downtown buildings collapsed. The steeple of the Episcopal church toppled into the street and the buildings occupied by the Citizens Savings Bank and the First National Bank of Inglewood were destroyed.

Several persons in Inglewood were slightly injured.

The Edison Building and the Laughlin Building, formerly separated by a space of a few inches, were discovered to be closely joined after the shock.

The chimney of the W. C. T. U. was loosened and a police guard was placed in the street below to warn pedestrians of the danger. There were lively scenes in the various cafeterias where hundreds of persons were carrying trays of food to tables. Many dropped their trays and rushed for the door in some instances were pursued by the proprietors who demanded payment for the food.

W. C. THOMPSON SEEKS DIVORCE

Accuses Wife of Infidelity and Asks Custody of Children

An answer and cross complaint was filed in superior court Tuesday in the case of Mrs. Nellie Thompson, who is suing her husband, William C. Thompson, for a divorce.

The couple were married Sept 13, 1904 at Rockford, and have four children, Hazel aged 14, Viola, 13, William 10, and Lucile, 8. Divorce proceedings were started 4 years ago, but dropped upon Mr. Thompson's promise to behave better, according to Mrs. Thompson's complaint. She charges cruel and inhuman treatment, frequent intoxication, the use of vile names and accuses him of keeping company with other women. She left him in January, 1920 and today asks for the custody of the children.

Answering, Thompson says that he is caring for the children, denies all her allegations and accuses his wife of infidelity, naming a certain man. The cross complaint declares that the wife, unless she will give up this man, is unfit to be a guardian of their children, and asks that her complaint be dismissed.

The net revenue of the division of dead letters, derived from the sale of undeliverable articles, together with currency found loose in the mails and removed from letters found to be undeliverable after a careful examination as well as postage payments and unclaimed stamps, etc., amounted to $199,222.11.

IVY ODE

Composed and Read by Janet Durrie at Ivy Ceremony

Now, let us plant the ivy here, again.
With zealous hand to guard its priceless worth.
And may its heritage give rise to a new birth,
Of beauty and of wisdom among men.
And so with tender dreams for coming days
We plant the ivy with a solemn prayer
That in some future time others may gaze
Upon the vine which will be cloistered there.
As slow as ivy creeping on the walls,
So slowly progress climbs and upward rises,
Struggling and striving still it mounts and falls,
Upon the wall of human enterprises.
And listening now, we almost hear a song—
The slumbering echo of that ghostly trend
Of other ivy planters who have gone,
Who left their heritage and now have fled.
But their tradition has not come to death;
That echo ever will more loudly sing,
For as up-stretching vines hope blossometh
And leaves its glorious message challenging.

NEW YORK — Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the U. S. supreme court, honorary president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Nathan Straus have left New York to attend the International Zionist Conference which convenes in London July 4. They are the advance guard of an American delegation of thirty-nine elected at the extra-ordinary Zionist convention which was held in New York city May 9 and 10 last.

The International Zionist Conference, which will be attended by large delegations from every country in Europe and delegates from Palestine, Argentine, Australia Canada and New Zealand, is the first world Zionist conference to be held in six years. It is regarded as one of the most important assemblies ever held in Jewish history, as it will be called upon to deal with practical questions involving preparation of Palestine as a Jewish homeland, in accord with the San Remo declaration by the peace conference.

The deliberations of the conference will e watched with intense interest by millions of Jews in the pogrom-haunted countries of Europe, for whom Palestine is the only means of escape from the intolerable conditions of persecution, expropriation and massacres in which they have lived since the outbreak of the war.

Authentic reports to the Zionist Organization of America indicate that hundreds of thousands are prepared to migrate to the new Jewish homeland.

Americans' Program

The American delegation will go to the conference with a definite program which is both practical and social. The Zionists are pledged to create in Palestine such social conditions as will protect the many against exploitation by the few, and while due regard will be given to the safeguarding of private capital and individual initiative, land monopoly and the private exploitation of natural resources will be prevented.

This program provides, among other things, that in Palestine there shall be political equality irrespective of race, sex or religion; a policy which, with due regard to existing rights, shall tend to establish the ownership and control of the land and of all natural resources and public utilities, by the whole people; that all land owned or controlled by the people shall be leased on such conditions as will insure the fullest opportunity for development and continuity of possession and the application of the co-operative principle in the organization of all industrial, commercial and financial undertakings.

COMMENCEMENT CROWDS MAKE MERRY IN SPITE OF THE RAIN

Class Play and Pipe of Peace Ceremonies Are Postponed Until Today; Pease in Farewell to the Underclassmen

Last night's commencement exercises were marred by a drizzling rain which necessitated the postponement of the class play, The Jester, which was to have been presented at the open air theater, and of the pipe of peace ceremony, which should have followed on the lower campus. The play will be given at 2:15 this afternoon, when holders of reserved tickets for last night will be honored. The pipe of peace ceremony is to be staged tonight at 11:30.

No mere rain, however, could dampen the spirits of the alumni classes which thronged the city yesterday. At midnight, faithful members of the 1910 class, having taken possession of the paraphernalia, prepared for the pipe ceremony and were making merry.

Wisconsin alumni were bade welcome by the graduating class of 1920 at the annual class day exercises held yesterday afternoon on Muir knoll. The class memorial, a substantial donation to the chimes, some day to ring on the campus, was presented and accepted.

Anthony G. Zulfer was named as the recipient of the conference medal for athletic prowess and scholarship for this year. He was presented the medal by Director of Athletics T. E. Jones. Charles H. Carpenter, last year's choice for the medal, who failed to receive the trophy because of his absence in U. S. service, was also given his medal at the same time.

In the absence of Joseph B. Beach, called from the city by the illness of his parents, the class day oration was given by Fletcher B. Cohn.

Harlow H. Pease bade farewell to the underclass men on behalf of the graduating class. The ideals of those who took charge of Wisconsin spirit during the campus turmoil following the war, he said, have not been all realized as yet; and it is the duty and privilege of the undergraduates to carry further these high plans of their fulfillment. Lothrop F. Follett responded on behalf of undergraduates.

The class history was presented by H. Kenneth Haley and Phyllis B. Hamilton, the class prophecy by C. Harold Ray and Dorcas J. Hall.

The chimes fund was presented by James M. Lindsey, who had charge of its collection, and accepted by Dean F. W. Roe. Dean Roe expressed the wish that the chimes may soon sound from the belfry of Music hall, Main hall or some other building and may in time become as much a part of the traditions of the Wisconsin university as the bell towers of the old world are associated with their environment.

The ivy ceremony followed. Anthony G. Zulfer planted the vine. Lawrence W. Hall, delivering the ivy oration, called upon the members of the class to face with stout hearts the tasks before them in the world and typified the friendship which should bind them together with the persistence of ivy clinging to stone walls. The ivy ode was read by its composer, Janet Durrie.

Earl D. Brown, accompanied by Miss Marjorie Lacy at the piano, sang Gloria, by Bullard, as part of the afternoon's program.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Natural Color and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients a large bottle, at little cost, at drug stores, known as Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

John Bascom, Heroic Figure of University, Honored in Dedication

UNIVERSITY Hall, known to thousands of graduates of the University of Wisconsin as "Main hall," is no more.

Simple ceremonies, preceded by exercises at which John Bascom, president of the university from 1874 to 1887, was described as one of the most heroic figures in the annals of the institution, marked the dedication of the building at noon today.

"Bascom Hall," emblazoned above the central entrance, is the name by which graduates and undergraduates of the future will know the old building.

The dark days preceding Pres. Bascom's incumbency at the university and the energetic manner in which he arose to combat obstacles, were described by Burr W. Jones, '70, who delivered the chief address at the exercises in Music hall preceding the dedication.

"The university," said Mr. Jones, "was for a long time the step-child of the state. The legislature in the early '60's was full of hostility. One bill was introduced to take away the charter, dissolve the institution and divide the property among the sectarian colleges of the state. But with the coming of Pres. Chadbourne in 1867 the clouds began to clear, and the new spirit which he inaugurated was carried on with zeal by Pres. Bascom. In appearance a typical New England minister or professor, he was charged with a fire that sought one outlet in reform. The standpatters of his time were amazed; they charged him with 'talking politics.' But he was a teacher of philosophy and ethics and deemed it his duty to speak the truth.

"He came here at a time when the legislature was ridden with graft, when political bosses, the saloon and the railroads dominated. All his acts were powerful protests against these abuses. His influence still abides with us; it cannot die!"

Joseph Sarles Simpson, '83, described Pres. Bascom's fight in defense of a far-reaching co-educational system. Judge Andrew A. Bruce, '80, declared that Pres. Bascom put a soul into the university and a soul in the state.

The esercises included a piano solo by Marjorie H. Lacy, '20, and a vocal solo by Reuben S. Brown, '19. At the conclusion of the program, the audience of about 800 climber university hill to the foot of Lincoln monument, where the dedication exercises were conducted.

"John Bascom came to the university at a time when the spirit of the school, built painstakingly out of the lives of its teachers, might have been dispersed, but he concentrated thir spirit and directed it to higher aims," said President Birge, in a brief openng address, followng a prayer by Bishop Fallows.

Dr. Charles H. Vilas, '65, president of the board of regents, formally dedicated the building. At the conclusion of his address, flags draped before the main entrance were drawn aside and the name Bascom Hall" revealed.

This afternoon alumni of the school formed a parade on the upper campus and marched to the lower campus to witness a ball game between Illinois and Wisconsin. The senior play, The Jesters, postponed from last night because of rain, will be given tonight in the open-air theater.

LA FOLLETTE'S TRIBUTE TO BASCOM AS GUIDING SPIRIT OF HIS TIME

Was Embodiment of Moral Force and Enthusiasm; a Man of Emerson Type; Warns Against Ethical Mistakes

The work which John Bascom did to make Wisconsin university free, liberal, open-minded and tolerant is well set forth in La Follette's autobiography.

In fact, Senator La Follette counts the influence of Dr. Bascom as one of the prime factors in rescuing the state government from corrupt bosses who were serving the railroads and the big corporations.

Senator La Follette pays tribute to Dr. Bascom and the university in these words:

* * * * *

"It is difficult, indeed, to overestimate the part which the university has played in the Wisconsin revolution. For myself I owe what I am and what I have done largely to the inspiration I received while there. It was not so much the actual course of study which I pursued; it was rather the spirit of the institution—a high spirit of earnest endeavor, a spirit of fresh interest in new things, and beyond all else a sense that somehow the state and the university were intimately connected, and that they should be of mutual service.

"The guiding spirit of my time, and the man to whom Wisconsin owes a debt of gratitude greater than it can ever pay was its President, John Bascom.

"I never saw Ralph Waldo Emerson, but I should say John Bascom was a man of much his type, both in appearance and character. He was the embodiment of moral force, and moral enthusiasm; and he was in advance of his time in feeling the new social forces and in emphasizing the new social responsibilities. His addresses to students on Sunday afternoon, together with his work in the class room were among the most important influences in my early life. It was his teaching, iterated and reiterated of the obligation of both the university and the students to the mother state that may be said to have originated the Wisconsin idea in education.

"He was forever telling up what the state was doing for us, and urging in return our obligation not to use our education wholly for our own selfish benefit, but to return some service to the state. That teaching animated and inspired hundreds of students who sat under John Bascom. * * *

"In those days we did not so much get correct political views, for there was then little teaching of sociology or political economy worthy of the name, but we somehow did get, and largely from Bascom a proper attitude toward public affairs. And when all is said, this attitude is more important than any definite views a man may hold.

"Years afterward when I was governor of Wisconsin John Bascom came to visit us at the executive residence at Madison, and I treasure the words he said to me about my new work:

"'Robert,' he said, 'you will doubtless make mistakes in judgment as governor, but never mind the political mistakes so long as you make no ethical mistakes.'

"John Bascom lived to be 84 years old, dying in 1911 at his home in Williamstown, Mass. Up to the last his mind was clear and his interest in the progress of humanity as keen as ever. In his later years he divided his time between his garden and his books—a serene and beautiful old age. His occasional letters and his writings were always a source of inspiration to me.

"In all mi fights in Wisconsin the university and the students have always stood firmly behind me. In a high sense the university has been the repository of progressive ideas; it has always enjoyed both free thought and free speech. When the test came years ago the university met it boldly where some institutions faltered or failed."

AS BATHING SUITS GET MORE SIMPLE AND SCANTY FANCY BEACH CAPES BECOME ALMOST A NECESSITY

The bathing cape, or beach cape as it should be called, is more popular this season than ever. Here are two models which show to what lengths a bathing outfit may go to be fashionable. At the right is a rather simple outfit made of jersey. The suit which is made with breeches and a very short overblouse is fashioned of gray jersey trimmed with bands of green. The jersey cloak is also of the vivid green and is just heavy enough to afford warmth and protection from the cool breezes after a dip in the briny. Its decorative value must not be underestimated, however, for nothing could be more striking. A little rubber cap to match and canvas shoes complete the outfit.

At the left is the most unusual cape yet seen for beach wear. It looks much more like the costume for a musical comedy than for the warm sands at the seashore. The suit itself is rather simple. It is fashioned of black taffeta with a much ruffled skirt and little knickers. A basquelike bodice and no sleeves and it is finis. The cape cannot be dismissed with such ease for it is a very opera-like affair made of black taffeta trimmed with puffings and flutings. The most unusual feature, however, is the huge collar which is trimmed with white fur.

MILWAUKEE WINS STREET CAR CASE

A ruling that the railroad commission mal alter a contract between a city and a public utility corporation is the purport of an order by Circuit Judge Stevens, made Monday, and constiutes a temporary victory for the city of Milwaukee in the street railway fare case. The case was remanded to the commission for further proceedings.

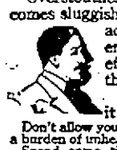

The company will not be permitted to charge more than five cents until further action is taken by the commission. The court's decision vacates the order of last October which discontinued the five cent fare and provided for a seven cent cash fare with six tickets for 35 cents and eighteen tickets for $1. Judge Stevens declared that the rates fixed by the commission in its October order are unreasonable.

SIR OX'S BUNK OF BENEVOLENCE.

Sir "Ox" Geddes, ambassador of England (but not of Ireland), recently was delivered of a speech in New York and was quoted as follows:

"I say without fear of informed criticism that British foreign policy is directed against no man, but is inspired by a desire to seek peace, to bring order out of chaos, to extend the boundaries of freedom, to improve the lot of the oppressed and to increase the material prosperity of the world. That is our program. Those are the principles by which I, as British representative in this land, am guided from day to day."

This flourish by Sir "Ox" is simply the standard British bunk of benevolence. In other words, it is a tissure of lies and hypocrisies, full of sound and banalities, signifying nothing.

It is well answered by Director Daniel T. O'Connell of the Information Bureau, Friends of Irish Freedom, in the following queries addressed to the "Ox:"

"(1) In what manner does Great Britain extend the boundaries when she denies freedom to Ireland? Freedom, as understood in America, is the American brand of freedom, the freedom provided for by the Constitution of the United States and described in the Declaration of Independence. Do you wish Americans to believe that there are two kinds of freedom and that there can be freedom, when, by power of military arms, England says she can 'govern without the consent of the governed?' Surely, England has not the consent of the people of Ireland.

"(2) In what manner does England improve the lot of the oppressed when she causes oppression to be heaped on oppression in Ireland; when England suspends the writ of habeas corpus in England; when 20,000 homes have been raided by government agents; when men, women, boys and girls are imprisoned because they advocate freedom; when men are imprisoned for months without arraignment before any legal tribunal; when the mayor of a great city is foully murdered by English-appointed police and the English authorities refuse to prosecute the assassins; when liberty of the press is suppressed, and to sing a song of freedom, of thoughts similar to the Star Spangled Banner of this country, is cause for imprisonment; when, in brief, oppression as practiced in Ireland is today arousing the attention of the civilized world?

"If you will enlighten the liberty-loving people of America with an explanation covering the 'informed criticism' I direct your attention to, the American people will better understand your published statement as quoted above."—The Irish News.

Red Crown Gasoline

We quote their letter of Oct. 1st.

Mr. W. J. Lang, Manager,
Standard Oil Company, City.

Dear Sir:—

We have been using Red Crown Gasoline in all of our trucks and pleasure cars for quite awhile, and are well pleased with the results obtained and the service given by your people.

We haul logs into Evansville from all directions for a distance of from 18 to 20 miles, and over all kinds of roads. When our log truck was not pulling as it should, one of your employes made a trip to the country with our truck driver and adjusted the carburetor so as to make the engine pull better and reduce the amount of gasoline used.

We certainly appreciate service of this kind, and that is the reason that we have been giving you our business.

Yours very truly,
MALEY & WERTZ
Per (signed) Wm. S. Partington

SPRING DISHES

Rhubarb Pudding—Four tablespoons shortening, four tablespoons sugar, two eggs, one lemon, one-half sup flour, one cup stewed rhubarb, one-quarter teaspoon salt (more if desired), a few breadcrumbs.

Grease a pudding dish and dust it over with breadcrumbs. Put a layer of breadcrumbs in bottom, then spread in rhubarb. Beat shortening and sugar until creamy, beat in yolks of eggs, add grater rind of the lemon, sift in flour and salt. Beat well, then spread mixture over rhubarb and bake in moderate oven twenty minutes.

Beat whites of eggs to stiff froth, add one tablespoon powdered sugar and one-half teaspoon lemon juice. When pudding is done drop this mixture in spoonfuls on top and return to oven to brown lightly.

Dandelion Salad—Gather a peck basket about two-thirds full of dandelions, wash well and cut in inch lengths and cook in boiling salt water till tender, then drain. Heat two tablespoons of fryings in frying pan, add dandelions and two hard boiled eggs chopped fine and about four tablespoons of vinegar (according to taste) and last one-half cup of cream either sweet or sour.

The latter may be omitted or milk substituted. This will serve from four to six persons. It is a very economical salad even for those having to buy their cream and eggs.

IF GREEN VEGETABLES ARE HIGH

Escalloped Corn—One egg, one cup milk, one-half cup crumbs, one can of corn. Mix beaten egg with the milk and stir through the corn; arrange in layers in buttered baking dish with the crumbs and salt and pepper and butter on each layer. Bake slowly until set and brown on top.

Corn and Cheese Souffle—One tablespoon chopped green pepper, one-fourth cup flour, two cups milk, one cup chopped corn, one cup grated cheese, three eggs, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Melt the butter and cook the green pepper well, heat the milk and thicken with the flour. Add the cheese and stir until melted; add the corn, yolks and seasoning. Last, stir in the stiffly beaten whites. Turn into buttered baking dish and bake in moderate oven thirty minutes. Good meat substitute.

Corn and Potatoes—Drain a can of corn and turn the kernels into a frying pan and brown in butter. Cut cold boiled potatoes into dice and add two cups of these to the corn in the pan. Toss and stir all together until potatoes are light brown; sprinkle with salt and pepper and turn into a heated vegetable dish.

Corn Pie—Line a deep baking dish with a rich biscuit dough, put into it one-third can of corn, dot with bits of butter, salt and pepper. Arrange the balance of the can in layers, pour over it one-half cup sweet milk, cut some slits in the top crust, and bake in moderate oven for thirty minutes.

Allied Council Decides to Take Action; Differ on German Payments

(By the Associated Press)

BOULOGNE — The supreme council adjourned to meet at Brussels July 2, leaving most of the questions on its program undecided.

The problems of the German reparations was referred to experts who will meet in Paris and endeavor to conciliate the conflicting viewpoints among the allies regarding the division of the sums Germany is to pay. The experts likewise have still to reach a final decision as to the total amount of the reparations and the method of payment.

The Turkish question is considered to have been settled by the council's approval of military action against the Turkish nationalists and by the decision that the Turks must reply to the peace terms by the time set, June 26. This is interpreted as meaning that the Turks must sign the treaty as it was prepared at the San Remo conference.

The Russian question came up this morning but was left undecided. It was agreed that the economic negotiations between the French and British delegates and the soviet representatives should continue without implying in any sense recognition of the soviet government. Premier Millerand leaves this afternoon for Davis and Premier Lloyd George for England.

COMMITTEE ON THE PHILIPPINES.

May 18, 1920

Mr. F.A. Cannon
Executive Secretary
Good Roads Association
Madison, Wisconsin:

My dear Mr. Cannon:

I have not previously made an acknowledgment of your favor of April twenty-fourth because I was absent from the Capital for some two weeks after the arrival of your letter, because of my engagements in the current primary Presidential campaign.

I must say to you with wholeheartedness that I am cordially in favor of continuing Federal Aid to the Good Roads movement throughout the United States. I voted for the measures which are already on the Federal statute books and hope for a continuation of Federal assistance, but I do insist upon the adoption of a policy which assures us of the maintenance of good roads after they are constructed. I do not know of any one crime in the waste of public money equal to that of constructing high-grade roads and then permitting them to be neglected and go to ruin before they are paid for.

You may say to your membership that the Good Roads movement will always have a cordial supporter inthe undersigned.

Very truly yours

W. G. Harding

Not only is the republican party on record in its platform as in favor of good roads, as indicated by the plank in the platform adopted favoring a continuance of federal aid to the states for highway improvement, but Senator Harding, the candidate of the party, is strongly on record as in favor of highway improvement and in favor of the continuance of federal aid," said F. A. Cannon, executive secretary of the Good Roads association of Wisconsin. "This letter received from Senator Harding prior to the convention, shows his attitude plainly and unequivocally,' said Mr. Cannon, displaying a letter written by the republican nominee, a facsimile of which we reproduce.

Madison Is Living Up—

The wonderful reputation for patriotism and big heartedness that has been built up during the past several years in Madison has not died—it is living as gloriously as ever.

A demonstration of this wonderful spirit greeted the committee which started yesterday to raise Dane County's share of $10,000 for the starving children of Central and Eastern Europe.

Big hearted men and women signed their names to $100 checks, $50 checks, $25 checks. From bank presidents to nurse maids, every Madisonian who was solicited gave unselfishly of their goods.

Determine what is your share of this $10,000, and mail your check to the treasurer—Don't wait for the solicitor to call.

EACH $100 SHARE

of Wisconsin Gas & Electric Preferred Stock

pays a regular, dependable yearly income of $7 in cash, in quarterly installments of $1.75—July 15, October 15, January 15, April 15.

Sharing equally with the common stock all dividend payments over 10 per cent in any year, this preferred stock has an excellent prospect of paying $8 or $9 a share in extra good years.

Its $7 a share of PREFERRED dividends MUST be paid each year, out of that year's dividend earnings, before ANY dividend can be paid on the common stock.

In any distribution of the Company's assets, preferred stockholders must be paid the full face value of their shares, before anything can be paid to the holders of the common stock.

Each $100 share is backed by MORE than $100 worth of State-regulated, income-producing public service property, kept always in good condition.

We are now selling the last $200,000 of a $500,000 issue of this preferred stock, at par for cash. Issuance and sale of this stock was authorized by the State, to finance the growth of the business.

Over 400 Wisconsin men and women have bought shares of this stock since it was placed on sale March 18. Considering its safety, and its chance to earn more than 7 per cent, it is, in our judgment, an uncommonly good income investment. We recommend it especially to small investors who want a high income rate on their savings, with safety for their principal.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat, also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

JACK DEMPSEY MAY OFFICIATE LEONARD BOUT

Promoter Wants Champ Third Man in Ring When Charlie White Meets Leonard

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—World's Heavyweight Champion Jack Dempsey is very likely to be the referee of the lightweight championship battle between Champion Benny Leonard and Charlie White of Chicago here on the afternoon of July 5. It is known that Promoter Floyd Fitzsimmons would like to have Dempsey officiate and when Phil Campbell, who acts as the heavyweight champion's secretary, arrived here, he stated that Jack had expressed a willingness to be the third man in the ring.

Campbell came from California and will remain in Benton Harbor until after the fight. He has been placed in charge of the ticket sale by Fitzsimmons, as he has had plenty of experience due to years of experience with Jimmy Coffroth, the California promoter.

Leonard Scales 141

Campbell said that Dempsey would be here some time next week, at which time he will confer with the local promoter about a Labor day match. Among other things Campbell said that reports Leonard was away over weight were incorrect. He said that the champion scaled only 141 pounds last week.

Work on the new arena is progressing rapidly, and it is expected it will be finished by next Saturday.

Opens Headquarters

Local headquarters have been established by Promoter Fitzsimmons at 215 Main st., Benton Harbor, to which all applications for tickets should be addressed.

SAMSON TRACTORS IN CRIPPLED CONDITION

JANESVILLE—Ray Shook, catcher of the Samson Tractor Baseball club, suffered a broken finger in the game with the Fairies of Beloit, here on Sunday, won by Samsons, 2 to 1. A foul tip in the sixth inning crashed into the third finger of his right hand breaking it in two places. He will be out of the game for two weeks. The spunky backstop continued to catch for the balance of the game and in the ninth inning knocked out the single that sent Dunbar in with the winning run after the score had been tied in the eighth by the Fairies.

Art Schwind, Samson shortstop, is in bed with bloodpoison in one of his feet, the result of a spiking several weeks ago.

About 9,800 people saw the two games between the rival cities of Beloit and Janesville, Beloit taking the first contest on an unearned run due to a bad throw on Saturday, 1 to 0. The crowds were the biggest in the history of semi-pro baseball anywhere in the middle west.

YACHT RESOLUTE IS GIVEN NEW SAILS

BRISTOL, R. I., June 20— New sails of lighter canvas than those at present used by Resolute, the America's cup defender candidate, were taken from the Herreshoff shops here today for possible use this week. The sails included two new mainsails, a spinnaker and a number of smaller head sails and were placed aboard the tender Montauk, which sailed tonight for Newport.

Bob Martin, the A. E. F. heavyweight champion, has a tour booked for him in the leading cities on the Pacific coast. Martin, with Jimmy Bronson his manager, will leave the East July 5 for San Francisco. Capt. Bob Roper and Martin are scheduled for July 5 at Akron.

CUBS AND SOX LOAF AS RAIN STOPS SIX LEAGUE CONTESTS; NAPS TRIM RED SOX IN 12TH

Phillies Conquer Champion Reds, 5 to 1; Rain Kills Game Schedule

CHICAGO—There being only a few hundred cash customers on hand, the White Sox and Athletics did not pull off the second clash of their series yesterday. At bell time drops of rain were pattering on the field and the sky gave indication of a real storm. This, coupled with the scarcity of spectators, caused the home club officials to hang out the "No Game" sign. The postponement will be settled when Connie Mack's athletes pay their next visit.

If there is a matinee today the pitching assignment will be given to Dick Kerr, wee southpaw. The hero of the last world's series pitched quite a game against the Yanks last week, indicating he had recovered his last season's form. Gleason is confident of having him for a regular turn from now on, and if he comes through according to expectations, the Sox are going to be that much more formidable as flag contenders.

Another Cub game went into the hangover list when showers postponed the opening combat with the Giants and gave the convalescents one more day to recover. Today Mitchell expects to have the full strength of his team ready to battle McGraw's men in the remaining three games of the series.

Phillies defeated Cincinnati, 5 to 1, in the opening game of the series. Sensational fielding held down the locals' runs. Both Paulette and Rariden had fingers split and had to retire.

Cleveland retained first place by defeating Boston, 3 to 2, in 12 innings, the first overtime game here this spring. The winning run was scored on O'Neil's double, Burns' sacrifice, and Evans' single. The Indians failed to make a hit off Harper until the fifth inning. Uhle pitched good ball, but was weakening toward the end and was replaced by Morton, who held the Red Sox hitless the last two innings.

President Jim Dunn and Manager Tris Speaker of the Indians denied an offer had been made to the Boston club to trade Guy Morton for Harry Harper.

KIPPS WILL PLAY CASE EAGLES SUNDAY

Sunday, June 27th, at the Madison-Kipp Athletic field, the Madison-Kipp team will cross bats with the J. I. Case Threshing Machine company team of Racine.

This team, playing as the "Case Eagles," has an unbroken string of victories to their credit this year and are regarded as being one of the strongest semi-pro teams in the middle west.

There will be no advance in the price of admission, the 40 cents including war tax and standstand with no charge for ladies and children.

The game will be called promptly at 2:30 and is to be played on the Madison-Kipp Athletic field at the foot of Dixon st.

Maroons on Way Home Say Japs Like Ball

VICTORIA, B. C., June 21.—Professional baseball shortly will be introduced in Japan, according to members of the University of Chicago baseball team, which arrived here today from Yokohama on the steamer Empress of Asia. The University of Chicago team toured Japan during May, playing Japanese university teams. The Americans played fourteen games, won eight of them, lost four and tied two.

British exports by weight last year were one-half those of 1913.

Magee Testimony Proves Magnates Want Game Clean

Cub Player's Suit Shows Gambling is Not Tolerated by Big League Moguls

BY JACK KEENE

Testimony in the recent suit brought by Magee against the Chicago Cubs showed clearly two things:

First, the big league moguls are seeing to it that the game is being kept free from taint.

Second, that they are using a degree of discretion not appreciated by the erring ball players in showing the erring players the easiest way out of the game.

President Heydler and President Veeck of the Cubs investigated personally the rumors against Magee on the first tip they received. They had all the facts well in hand before the public was aware that anything was wrong. When they had convinced themselves—and had Magee's confession to substantiate their findings—the magnates played square with him by giving him a chance to "retire" from baseball.

This method, their usual way, is too generous in some cases, as was shown by Magee's actions in suing to attempt to keep his big league job in the face of his own admission of improper conduct.

But the method, in the main, is right. Publishing of all reports and rumors regarding indiscretions on and off the field would make the situation seem bad, whereas the number of players who haven't the good of the game at heart is negligible.

Recent events have shown that the baseball public doesn't need to worry about the future of the game and its good name as long as the present list of magnates remains. And the ball players who are prone to slip from the straight and narrow might just as well realize now that they play will be called quickly and effectively before they can do anyone but themselves harm.

The showing made by athletes from the University of Stanford and University of California in the eastern track meets gives a fairly good idea of what to expect in the field trials which will be held to determine what athletic stars will represent the United States in the Olympic games at Antwerp later this summer.

These Pacific coast colleges have ideal weather for track athletics and the schools have helped things by going the limit in getting the best coaches in the market to train the athletes. In previous years the west has had small representation on the Olympic teams, but there'll be a different lineup this summer unless all signs fail.

Mordecai Brown, now managing the Terre Haute club, evidently is having trouble building up a winner. The three-fingered wizard suggests that a looser purse string would help him and the other day passed the word to the fans that a plea for more coin with which to buy new players would help him more than the knocking at the ball park.

The San Joaquin valley baseball circuit promises to be more trouble to the Pacific Coast league in 1921 than the Federals caused the majors. The Idaho "Outlaws" also are scooping up players from the coasters.

Ray Bates, manager of one of the Idaho clubs, says: "At present I'm not able to pay enough money to grab any of the leading players of the Coast league. But just wait until next spring. Backers of the San Joaquin valley clubs are planning to make such offers in the way of salaries that the Coast league will have to ante its blue chips before it can compete.

YANKS WIN IN BRITISH PLAY FOR NET TITLE

Four Americans Survive First Round in English Lawn Tennis Championships

WIMBLEDON, Eng.—All four Americans who played in the opening matches for the British lawn tennis championship, defeated their opponents on Monday and were in no way extended during the contests. The match between C. S. Garland of Pittsburg and O. G. N. Turnbull proved the most attractive event of the day.

William M. Johnston of San Francisco, United States singles champion, the first of the Americans to compete in the British lawn tennis championships, scored an easy victory over J. M. Flavelle here on Monday in the opening round of the tournament for the title. Johnston won in straight sets by scores of 6—2, 6—4, 6—2. Flavelle, a well known English veteran player, was no match for his powerful stroking opponent.

R. Norris Williams, II., of Boston, United States champion in 1914 and 1916, also won his initial match, defeating N. Field, an English provincial player of some reputation, 6—2, 6—1, 6—3.

HOLD TRYOUTS FOR OLYMPICS

Boxing Teams Will be Selected After Preliminary Series; Make Rules Public

NEW YORK, June 22—Preliminary boxing tryouts for places on the American Olympic team have been arranged to take place in different parts of the United States during the last week of this month and the first week of July. The final tryout bouts, on the results of which the Selection Committee will choose the American representatives, will be held at New York on Monday, July 12 and Tuesday, July 13.

The American Olympic committee has made public the rules under which these tryouts will be fought and decided and they also will govern the international contests for Olympic honors at Antwerp, Belgium. In many respects they resemble the Amateur Athletic Union rules governing this sport which have been in vogue in this country for several years past.

The A. A. U. permitted rings to measure from 16 to 25 feet square but the Olympic standard is 16 feet no more or less. In the lighter classes there is a difference of a few pounds Olympic being a bit heavier than the regular scale and they will be as follows: 112, 118, 126, 135, 147, 160, 175 pounds and over. There will be two three minute rounds and one of four minute and an additional round (if necessary) of two minutes' duration. Should the judges and referee still disagree a final additional round of two minutes shall be ordered. The judges and referee shall write their decisions individually and simultaneously, which is another slight change from the usual method here in amateur bouts.

The Madison Sportlight

By Paul A. Holmes

THE NEXT meeting of the board of regents is awaited anxiously by all friends of rowing at the University of Wisconsin. The action of the board is now the only thing needed before rowing becomes a recognized Class A sport at the university again.

The University Athletic Council announced Saturday that it had voted to reinstate rowing as a major sport, and the vote as taken represents the sentiments of the faculty, medical, and athletic departments, as well as the student body.

The last opposition to the reinstatement of rowing will fade away with favorable action from the board of regents, and this action is confidently expected by all. A complaint of the medical authorities caused the sport to be banished in 1914, when the doctors asserted that it was doing physical injury to the participants.

Coach "Dad" Vail will issue a call for candidates for the varsity eight when school opens in September, and according to "Dad," there is lots of material. Vail worked with the crews this season and states that there are lots of promising oar wielders among the candidates. Rowing was carried merely as an intra-mural sport. It is probable that only one inter-collegiate race will be staged next year, Minnesota being the likely opponent.

Madison fans were given a taste of boxing last week. They liked it, according to all reports, and are eager for a second taste. Perhaps 1,500 Madison fans witnessed the Jamieson-Roper contest at the Monona park auditorium, and their conduct at the fight was exemplary. There was no noise, little loud cheering, and no rough conduct.

The town of Madison should take this fact into consideration in passing its ordinances to do away with boxing. One can hardly label an exhibition a public nuisance if the affair is carried off with no more Bob Roper, said the fight was the disturbance than usually attends a moving picture show.

Sig Heart, manager of Captain first and last contest in Wisconsin. Sig doesn't like the Wisconsin boxing laws, and he said that he was afraid to make a move during the performance. Roper had little to say regarding the pummeling Jamieson gave him. He seemed to think, however, that if the referee would have let him fight he could have mopped the floor with Ted. According to most of the spectators, it wasn't the referee's fault that Roper didn't fight. The general opinion is that Roper doesn't know how.

Jamieson put up a game battle. There were lots of boys on the sidelines who had seen the 32nd Division scrapper fight in France, and they were for him all the way. Jamieson earned the decision by his aggressiveness and his iron clad defense. He couldn't hurt Roper, however, and if the big captain had dropped his hands; Ted could have banged away all night without doing much damage.

The fans liked the way young Stanley McBride spoiled Johnny Lewis's championship aspirations. If Lewis is champion of the Pacific coast, they have got some pretty poor fighters out there. McBride was a whirlwind, and Lewis couldn't keep away from him.

The affair of the Essers' Markets baseball team at Lake Mills a week ago Sunday is calling forth lots of comment. Several letters have been received purporting to give true versions of the dispute, but no one of them has resembled the other. Charges of bad sportsmanship have been flung back and forth.

The Tri County league has ordered the replaying of the game, however, and with the order, all that happened at the first game is wiped out. Both teams will have an opportunity to display good sportsmanship when they meet again on August 22.

MARKETS

EXCHANGE OF BRITISH UP

(By the Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The further strength of British exchange with demand bills rising to $4. the highest quotation in more than two months and on opening rate of 8 per cent for call money were the only noteworthy features of today's session of the stock market. Stocks followed their recent uneven course, oils, motors and shippings as well as specialties of the tobacco and textile groups falling back 1 to 3 points. Pools tried to enlist public interest in the chemical issues, but met with scant success. Rails continued to ignore the spread of the strike beyond displaying increased dullness.

Losses were extended in the last hour when call money duplicated yesterday's maximum rate of 11 per cent. Steel settlements and motors were most vulnerable. The close was heavy.

SELLING IN CORN MARKET

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO — General selling took place in the corn market today and found support lacking. Predictions that receipts would continue to exceed bullish estimates had a weakening effect and so too did railroad troubles in the east. Besides, many traders were inclined to look for setbacks after the recent strenuous advance. Opening quotations, which ranged from ½ to 1 ⅝c lower with July 1.80⅞ to 1.81¼ and Sept. 1.71@½, were followed by a moderate additional drop, and then something of a rally.

Oats

Oats sagged with corn. After opening ½@1½c down including Sept. at 85¾ to 86¼ the market continued to descend.

DITHMAR DENIES RAPPING LEAGUE

Gubernatorial Candidate Repudiates Alleged Slurring Remark

E. F. Dithmar, present lieutenant governor, announced candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, has declared in a letter to B. O. Reynolds of Lake Geneva that he never, as reported from La Crosse, spoke slightingly of the Nonpartisan league.

The statement in The Wisconsin Leader to which Mr. Dithmar took exception, which was printed in the issue of June 5, was as follows:

"Another avowed candidate is Lieutenant Governor E. F. Dithmar. Mr. Dithmar has been angling for the farmer-labor endorsement, but, if he was correctly reported in a recent statement in La Crosse, he has abandoned hope of such endorsement. In that statement he was quoted as saying that he is a Republican, does not seek the endorsement of organizations of doubtful patriotism, such as the Nonpartisan league, and will be a candidate in the September primary regardless of the action of the farmer-labor forces. Although this statement has been several times printed, it has not been denied by Mr. Dithmar."

To the Editor: My attention has been called to an article published in the last issue of The Wisconsin Leader which does me an injustice.

I am enclosing you here a copy of a letter I have this day written to Mr. B. O. Reynolds of Lake Geneva, Wis., which I trust you will make public.

I never made such or similar statements as alleged in the article referred to

Yours truly,
E. F. DITHMAR.
Hotel Atlantic, Chicago.
June 12.

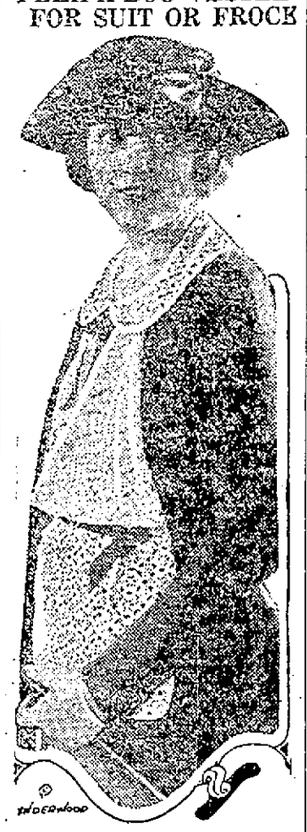

Mr. B. O. Reynolds, Esq.
Lake Geneva, Wis.

My Dear Mr. Reynolds: In answer to your inquiry as to whether I made certain statements about the Nonpartisan league as alleged in The Wisconsin Leader, I will say that I made no such statements to anyone, at La Crosse or elsewhere. This is the first time that my attention has been called to this matter. The charge is grossly unjust and unfair in the light of my real attitude

May I ask you to see that a proper retraction is made by The Wisconsin Leader?

Very sincerely,
E. F. DITHMAR.

JOHN BASCOM

"THE COMMUNISM of our time," said John Bascom in 1878, "is not all an error. It means something. It means that wealth and poverty must stand on more equal terms than hitherto, that the resources of the nation are for the nation, and that no stable community can be built on merely commercial law."

It is an interesting speculation and perhaps not an altogether unprofitable one as we are honoring the memory of John Bascom today, to ask what would be his standing in university circles, were he now living, and were he to express his progressive thought as freely as he did 30 or 40 years ago.

For no observing and candid man can have failed to notice that a deplorable wave of reaction and intolerance is sweeping through many American colleges and universities which would hardly make safe some of the mild radicalism of John Bascom.

He came to Wisconsin university as president in 1874. One of the first changes he brought about was the removal of all traces of distinction in instruction and opportunities in the university between men and women. He was one of the early advocates of suffrage for women.

Of revolution he said: "The right of revolution rests on the same basis as the rights of the state itself. It is simply their transfer to a new point, when their old point of safe deposit has been lost."

Of war he said: "War and deceitful diplomacy, its companion, have kept back and marred every moral standard within the nation. We cannot have one code for foreigners and another for citizens. The worst crimes will appear and reappear in civil life while violence and deceit hold between nations."

Of the right of the state to command the individual he said: "If the state infringes or seems to him to infringe on his purely personal and spiritual rights he can justly offer active resistance within the law, and passive resistance to the law."

Of the right to advocate reform he said: "There can be no sound and safe statesmanship without a profound reverence for the past. On the other hand there can be no reform, no progress, no radical movement without a decisive disposition to cast the future in a better mould than that of the present. This is the moral temper to which the world owes so much, yet which it is so slow to understand."

Dr. Bascom was president of Wisconsin for fourteen years, and during that period no professor, instructor or student was ever driven out of Wisconsin University for opinion's sake, nor was it considered a proper function of the university to pass resolutions of censure on any alumni on account of opinions entertained.

Dr. Bascom was a true friend of liberty—liberty of thought, of speech, and of the press. During the period of his presidency Wisconsin won enviable fame as an institution where academic freedom was real and absolutely untrammeled.

MORE BATHING BEACHES

MADISON has miles of the finest bathing beach opportunities. And yet how comparatively little these opportunities are used.

With the exception of the beach at Brittingham Park, Lake Monona is but little used for bathing purposes. Ten days ago thousands of people were sweltering around the capitol square with a fine expanse of water but a few feet away.

What an opportunity there is to SELL Madison as a summer resort. Thousands of tourists are coming via the auto every day. They admire our lakes and our scenery and our university and our capitol.

Supposing, however, that a guest at the Park hotel could walk down to the foot of Carroll street and find a cool bathing spot. Supposing that a bathing beach at the foot of Carroll street was made available to thousands of people living in the downtown district. Wouldn't that be a civic asset?

We believe that some member of the council can render a great service to the city by taking this matter up and pushing it. It would be a great thing for tourists as well as for town people.

Madison ought to make greater use of the things that Nature has bestowed.

BURLESON SHOULD GO

TODAY an increase of 15 per cent in second class mail charges is being put into effect by the postoffice department.

In spite of the fact that the postoffice department is charging twice as much as was charged five years ago the service has become more and more deplorable. The charge that is being made for the service rendered by the postoffice department today is nothing more than robbery.

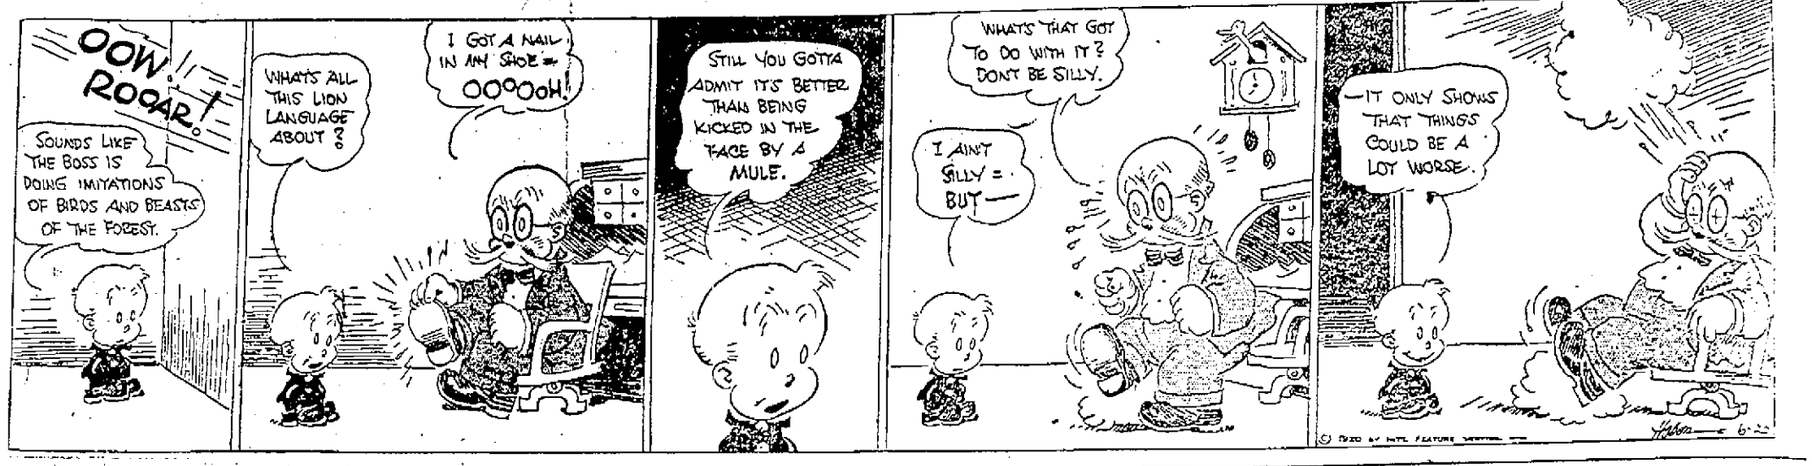

Here is one case among a thousand: During the week of the national convention The Capital Times sent 25 copies each day to the members of the Wisconsin delegation at the Atlantic hotel. The papers SENT ON MONDAY were received at the Atlantic hotel on Friday. These were the only papers received during the entire week.

Every day The Capital Times receives complaints that subscribers receive two and three papers at a time.

Complaints of this kind are universal. The postal service under Burleson has simply become demoralized. No blame is to be attached to local postoffices. Postmaster Devine and his aids are helpless. They are so restricted and handicapped that it is impossible to turn out the work with the force at hand.

Burleson should go.

AT THE THEATERS

At the Fuller—Earle Williams in "The Fortune Hunter"

At the Fuller—Is it true that the only young men worth while in small towns always leave the latter as soon as they are able, to make their way in the big cities? Vitagraph's latest picture, "The Fortune Hunter," presents a dramatic assertion of that belief. The picture argues that the small towns are often deserted by promising, marriageable young men, and are left full of pretty girls gone to waste. "The Fortune Hunter," which is an adaptation of the famous stage play by Winchell Smith, will be presented at the Fuller theater starting today for the balance of the week.

The New Strand—Intolerance is punished in a forcible way in Mary Miles Minter's latest picture for Realart Pictures Corporation, Nurse Marjorie, in which the beautiful and popular star is now appearing to great advantage. A wealthy member of the English house of commons is shown as a patient in a sanitarium patronized by the ultra rich and fashionable. "Nurse Marjorie" is the feature attraction at the Strand theater for the last times today. Bryant Washburn supported by Wanda Hawley in "Mrs. Temples' Telegram" and Larry Semon in "School Days" will open a four day engagement at the Strand theater commencing tomorrow.

At the Grand—Norma Talmadge is known to be one of the most versatile of all feminine screen stars, but her remarkable talents in this direction have never been shown to such good advantage as in her latest Select production, She Loves and Lies, which opened at the Grand, Sunday. In this adaptation of Wilkie Collins' story of the same name, Miss Talmadge portrays three separate and distinct characters, each being of a different social caste, age and physical appearance.

Voice of the People

PAY FOR FIREMEN

To the Editor of The Capital Times:

We, who are engaged in other lines of endeavor, often forget entirely that we are dependent upon the men sitting around the fire station. We often look at them—strong, healthy, smiling men—and wonder why they don't get a job and go to work. We only do this when our brain fatigue is at its maximum and we think that the job that we have is the only one where hard work is done.

In our less pessimistic moments we pride ourselves upon the efficiency of our fire department. We like to point out the individual members of the department and tell strangers the brave things that they have done. Then we draw their attention to the strong men they are both physically and mentally. We have the two combined so our department is efficient and we like to talk about it.

Our firemen have homes and families. They are able to spend three hours each day at those homes and with those families — one hour for each meal. The other twenty-one hours of the day they are on duty at the fire station. For three successive days the firemen live in this way. Then on the fourth day they have the entire day off—but they have already worked sixty-three hours to have the twenty-four hours of freedom. The policeman works nine and one-half hours a day. The remainder of the twenty-four hours is his—to do with it as he pleases.

The street cleaning department and the garbage department work nine hours a day with Sunday off. Laborers in the city employ get higher wages than the skilled firemen.

Regardless of all these things one of our aldermen, elected by us, a member of the finance committee, declared that the firemen were not "good sports" in asking for bigger wages. The reason that the firemen are not "good sports," according to the alderman's reasoning, is due to the fact that these men who work sixty-three hours and have twenty-four hours off have asked an increase in wages from $125 a month to $150 a month for men after the first year. The first year men rate asked is $135 per month.

Further along in his speech to the finance committee the worthy alderman declared, "If there are some men in our city departments who are making themselves so necessary that their loss threatens to disrupt the departments, I'd let them quit." We are sorry to hear such a statement as this was made. It is possible for these men to quit. We don't want them to do that. They are the nucleus of an efficient department. Our property and lives are dependent upon the type of men retained in our fire service.

We do not want mediocre men as firemen. We want the brave, the strong, the home men. To keep such men for our protection we must pay them properly. Some way must be open to raise the money needed to pay the firemen a just increase in wages. We must find that way and not condemn them as being "poor sports" or by encouraging them "to quit if they want to."

STILL WORSE

There was an old decanter stood empty on the shelf,
And as it thought upon the past
'twas moaning to itself.
"Alas, my olden glories, when flowed the ruby wine!
That I should ever go home dry"—
its voice changed to a whine.
A wineglass on the table sat, and grimly made reply,
"Your fate seems quite a festival
to such a one as I.
You never have to do a thing. Of course it's dull, I know.
But note my degredation: I'm used for cutting dough!"
—Tennyson J. Daft.

If Mr. Bryan does not win the presidency he will make more money by being out of it than by being in it, which is more or less of a consolation, at that.

The Chicago bathing censor says: "I see nothing in the one-piece bathing suits that should be prohibited." Of course not—nothing that is in them. The suits themselves are what the reformers object to.

Maybe the grand rush for the presidency has been due to the fact that the supreme court has decided that the president does not have to pay an income tax.

FOR FREEDOM'S SAKE

"For Freedom's Sake" seems to be nation-wide movement. It is not only in Manitowoc that people are being urged to unite for Freedom's Sake. Wherever you may go you will find sentiment for the new freedom for all peoples growing.

In politics the old party politicians see the handwriting upon the wall. The new party is to be organized. Organizations everywhere are springing up. They have various names but the movement is always the movement for "Freedom's Sake."—Manitowoc Times.

McADOO

Many republicans, no less than many democrats, will be disappointed by the refusal of Mr. McAdoo to permit his name to go before the coming democratic convention for the presidential nomination. Mr. McAdoo concededly is a man well qualified to represent his party, and by making him their standard bearer the democrats would lay the foundation for the best possible showing they could make in the campaign.—Oshkosh Northwestern.

"THE GATES OF HELL"

The Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri, in a speech in support of President Wilson and the democratic party, had among other things, the following to say:

"We stand on what we did, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against us. If I was going to pick out just one thing that has done the American people more good, and that was done by democrats than any other, I would pick out the Federal reserve system."—Racine Journal News.

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The Federal reserve policy of deflation caused price cutting sales all over the country and made a great many merchants fearful of buying goods. They question if they stock up again, if they will not again be forced by bank policy to liquidate.—Sheboygan Press.

For some time past William G. McAdoo has been generally regarded as more likely than anybody else to be the democratic nominee for president. This was a matter of current comment, and it does not appear to have caused any objection on the part of Mr. McAdoo, who is quite practical in the processes of his mental activity.—Superior Telegram.
